The record and the response

Department's position. The saved report describes alleged response delays, an indirect route, and emergency-equipment and camera issues. Byrd disputes the department's account. [B1]

Officer's position. Byrd's reported position was that fleeing traffic blocked the nearby entrance and she drove toward the confirmed victim location, then helped victims and coordinated the response. [B1]

Later reporting. An October 1 account reports that the earlier order was vacated and the appeal dismissed on a procedural ground. The signed replacement order and subsequent commission action still need verification. [B2]

This is an officer-specific record. No agency grade or finding of criminal guilt is assigned.
